

SEWARD/KENAI SHORE EXCURSIONS

Seward is the embarkation and disembarkation point for most cruises from Vancouver, B.C. and Seattle. We've arranged for a wide variety of day trips that can be enjoyed pre or post-cruise en route between Anchorage and the cruise ship terminal in Seward. Southcentral Alaska is one of the best areas of the state to explore, and we've designed our private shore excursions to make the most of the time you'll have in the area before or after your cruise. Each Seward shore excursion offers a relaxing and private alternative to the mass transfer options offered by the cruise companies..

TRANSFER WITH GLACIER DOGSLEDDING

4 HOURS

On this private scenic transfer between the Seward ship dock and the Anchorage International Airport or hotel, you'll enjoy a brief helicopter flight and a glacier dogsledding trip. After your helicopter ride has deposited you on the glacier, your guide will explain the origins of this special breed of dogs, mushing history, and the Iditarod Race. You will have the opportunity to help harness the dogs, and you'll witness the excitement as they are put in front of a sled. Then, accompanied by your guide, you'll take to the trail. This is a quintessential Alaskan experience—not to be missed.
