

CHASING AURORA; A DOGSLEDDING JOURNEY

Roughly the same size as Spain with a population of 37,000 (23,000 of which reside in the capital city of Whitehorse), the Yukon is wild, remote and sparsely populated. This northern Canadian gem offers what we believe is some of the best aurora borealis viewing in the world. Marvel at the bright colors dancing across the night sky as you enjoy both guided and self-directed light viewing sessions. Experience authentic Canadian transportation as you command your own dogsled team from one wilderness lodge to the next, across frozen lakes and wide open tundra.
